Soviet Complains to India Over Defector's Trip

Special to The New York Times

NEW DELHI, March 12

The Soviet Embassy here was reported today to have complained to the Indian Government over the manner in which Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Alliluyeva, left the country Tuesday.

Reliable sources said Soviet officials had made their complaints in discussions with officials of India's Ministry of External Affairs during the last few days.

The details of the Soviet charges could not be learned, but one authoritative source said: "It would be safe to say that they are not at all happy about what has happened and the way it happened."

Tuesday aboard a Quantas jet for Rome escorted by Robert F. Rayle, a member of the United States Central Intelligence Agency attached to the embassy in New Delhi.

India Is Concerned

They left the country only hours after Mrs. Alliluyeva appeared at the modernistic American Embassy here and asked for assistance in getting to the United States. She is now in Switzerland.

The Indian Government is believed to be concerned about the incident's effect on its relations with the Soviet Union.

Although Indian officials are being quiet about the affair, they appear worried that the Russians may conclude that they cooperated with the Americans to spirit Mrs. Alliluyeva out of the country.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi disclosed today that she had met Mrs. Alliluyeva while she was here and that Mrs. Alliluyeva had been the guest of one of her ministers.

At a news conference shortly after she was reelected as Prime Minister today, Mrs. Gandhi said she had met Mrs. Alliluyeva "very briefly in a particular place in Uttar Pradesh."
